University of Oxford Opportunities and Information

Brasenose College Literature Study Day (Online)

Brasenose College, Oxford is holding an online study day for Year 13 and Year 14 students who are thinking of studying English, Modern Languages or Classics, or a related subject, at a higher level.

- Saturday 26th September 2026
- 11am to 1:30pm, online

Students should complete the short registration form here.

The timetable is as follows:

- 11am to 11:10am: Introductions
- 11:10am to 12 noon: Three breakout rooms with sample lectures in English, Modern Languages and Classics
- 12 noon: 10-minute break
- 12:10pm to 1pm: Admissions session, including a mock interview and questions
- 1pm: Student-led Q&A, lasting around 30 minutes

The college will try to record the webinar, or parts of it, but would much prefer that students attend live.

Oxford Admissions Tests: Booking Deadline Monday 28th September

All students applying for the subjects listed here must sit an admissions test for Oxford. There is no flexibility on this, and the test must be booked by 6pm on Monday 28th September 2026.

Oxford is aware that some students in Northern Ireland have had difficulty booking a test. If your child is having trouble booking, they should follow the steps below:

- Contact Pearson directly to let them know they are struggling to book. Oxford's Admissions team believes that Pearson control the number of available slots according to demand, so more slots may open up in the following days.
- If they cannot reach a satisfactory arrangement with Pearson, contact UAT-UK directly using the secure messaging function on their UAT-UK account. This applies specifically to the TARA, ESAT and TMUA.
- Email Brasenose College admissions at admissions@bnc.ox.ac.uk, or the Admissions Officer at their college of choice, as well as completing the steps above.

Oxford recognises that this can add pressure and stress for students. If a student reaches the stage where no tests are available within a reachable area, the college may be able to use the record of emails to support them. Parents, guardians and carers are also welcome to get in touch with the college directly.

Northern Ireland GCSE Form for Oxford Applicants

All Oxford applicants are strongly encouraged to complete the University of Oxford Northern Ireland CCEA data sharing form here.

This form is very important in making sure that Northern Ireland students' achievements are assessed fairly against those of students in England and Wales, by showing whether any of their A grades would effectively be A* grades. It can only ever help applicants. Even students who have all A* grades and no A grades should still complete the form, as it is used as part of Oxford's contextual information measures to assess performance in the context of each student's school.
